EX-QUEEN LIL

Pays a Visit to the President of the United States.

Liliuokalani Sent an Autograph Note Requesting an Interview.

The Greeting Between the President and the Former Queen Was Extremely Cor-dial-During the Visit Nothing Was Said About Lil's Restoration.

Washington, Jan. 26.-Queen Liliuokalani paid a personal visit to President Cleveland Monday. It was entirely informal and was so designated in the note sent by the deposed monarch to the president, requesting the privilege of calling and the answer of the latter granting it. Joseph Helelale, the agent and secretary of Liliuokalani, and Julius N. Palmer, of Boston, the American friend who accompanied her to Washington, went to the white house Monday with an autograph note from the ex-queen addressed to the president. She asked merely that he receive her informally in a personal capacity, basing the request on the ground that it was a custom in her country for the head of the government to receive foreign visitors of distinction. Shortly after noon the president sent a note to Mr. Helelule, appointing 8 o'clock as the hour at which he would be pleased to have her

At the appointed time Lilioukalani, Miss Kia Naholena, her companion in waiting, Mr. Helelule and Mr. Palmer drove up to the white house in a carriage and were immediately shown to the blue room. The ex-queen was tastefully dressed. She walked with dignity across the lobby to the private corridor. The greeting between the president and the former queen was extremely cordial. Mr. Cleveland, entering the room, advanced with outstretched hand, and as he grasped that of the ex-queen, exclaimed heartily: "I am very glad you thought of calling on me." president invited the ex-queen and her companions to be seated and then entered into a pleasant conversation with the former queen. They talked about the death of Minister Willis, and the ex-queen spoke of him in words of "Yes," answered Mr. Clevepraise. land, "he always filled whatever office he occupied with credit to himself and his country." There was nothing said about restor ation but Lilioukalani took occasion to thank the president for his withdrawal of the treaty of annexation sent to the senate by President Harrison four years ago. When Lilioukalani inquired about Mrs. Cleveland's health the president remarked that she had prepared to go out as he came down stairs, but he would ascertain whether she was in or not. He called a messenger who informed him that Mrs. Cleveland had gone out walking a few minutes before. These things formed the bulk of the conversation which was informal and personal from beginning to end.

Consular and Diplomatic Bill. WASHINGTON, Jan. 26. - The consular and diplomatic bill was reported to the house Monday. It carries an appropriation of $1,651,808, which is an increase of $20,000 over the appropriation for the current fiscal year.

Senator George's Condition. WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.-There is practically no improvement in the condition of Senator George, of Mississippi, who is lying seriously ill at the Garfield Memorial hospital. He was better Monday and rested well last night but there was no change for the better noticed Monday.

Declared Constitutional. WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.-That part of the shipping laws of the United States which authorizes the arrest of sailors who refuse to observe the terms of their contracts to serve on board vessels was Monday declared by the supreme court to be constitutional and within the jurisdiction and within state courts to enforce. Chief Justice Fuller announced Monday that the supreme court would take the usual February recess.

ANNUAL MEETING

Of the National Board of Trade Begins in Washington Tuesday. WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 .- The 27th annual meeting of the National Board of Trade began here Tuesday. The organization is composed of delegates from 41 associations of bankers and merchants from the principal cities of the United States. Frederick Fraley is president. He is detained at his home in Philadelphia by the illness of his wife. William R. Tucker, of Philadelphia, the secretary and treasurer, will open the meeting. An official program of recommendations and resolutions proposed by associations members of the board to be considered at this meeting has been prepared, and covers sixtynine subjects. They relate to every variety of laws concerning the business interests of the country.

EXTRA SESSION. A Congressman Says the President-Elect

Will Call One March 15. PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 26.-Unless he should change his mind in the meantime, President-elect McKinley will call an extra session of congress for Monday, March 15 This information was given to Congressman-elect J. C. Sturdevant of the 26th district, by Maj. McKinley in Canton a few days Mr. Sturdevant said he gained from Maj McKinley's conversation the impression that the president-elect thought the tariff question ought to be disposed of at an early date.

The Deadlock Continues. Boise, Ida., Jan. 26. - The senatorial ballot Monday was as follows: Walton, pop., 29; Dubois, silver rep., 26; Nelson, pop., 13; scattering, 2. Dubois supporters Monday night said that the democrats will soon weary of their efforts at combination with the populists and will throw their strength to Dubois, and so give him the 36 votes necessary to elect.

The Latest News From All Parts of the Commonwealth.

PRISONERS ARMED. A Kentucky Sheriff Who is Determined to Protect a Negro From a Mob. Bowling Green, Ky., Jan. 26 - There was excitement here all day Monday over seemingly well founded reports that a mob would attack the Warcounty jail some time be-Tuesday morning and lynch the Negro Dinning for the murder of young Leon Conn. The jail was placed under a strong guard, and so thoroughly alarmed did the officials become that they distributed arms among some of the prisoners, with instructions to assist in the defense of the jail should the mob break down the strong outer doors and get into the corridors.

The prisoners armed are, of course, more trusty ones. The officials were determined that Warren county should not be disgraced by a lynching, preferring even that the prisoners should kill some of the mob.

Bondholders May Lose Their Holdings. LOUISVILLE, Ky., Jan. 26.—The bond-holders of the Richmond, Nicholasville & Irvine railroad will probably lose their entire holdings by the reorganization of the Louisville, New Albany & Chicago railroad, which has been ordered to be sold for the benefit of its bondholders. The Richmond, Nicholasville & Irvine road was bonded for $1,000,000 and the bonds were indorsed by the Louisville, New Albany & Chicago. No interest has been paid since 1891 and there is no provision for the payment of the bonds in the order given in Indianapolis for the sale of the Monon property. Half a million of the bonds are held in Louisville.

O. P. Alford Assigns. LEXINGTON, Ky., Jan. 26.-O. P. Alford, uncle of ex-Lieut. Gov. M. C. Alford, Monday filed a deed of assignment to Col. R. P. Stoll, for the benefit of his creditors. No schedule of assets and liabilities was filed, but Mr. Alford's property is worth from $30,000 to $40,000. He opcrated mule pens at New Orleans and sold them to planters. Later he enand when the crisis came in 1893 he was caught for a goodly lot of money.

Gas Plant Sold. MONTICELLO, Ky., Jan. 26. - The property of the Consolidated Oil and Gas Co., limited, was sold at public auction Monday. It was bid in by O. H. Wad dle for E. D. Sayre, George C. White and William Tarr, of central Kentucky, for $10,000. The purchasers own $38,-000 out of the $59,000 bonded indebtedness. This brings the total cost of the property to its present owners up to

The professional or business man, whose time is money; the te. her, who is called upon to at once answer all sorts of questions; the toiling student and inquiring scholar, at home or the deak, will find in the new work the most useful and practical library in the world for quick and ready reference on all subfects. One who owns it will possess the equivalent of a score of other reference books which would cost many est and importance. But it is in its treatment of recent subjects that the Standard American will be found of paramount value. All other encyclopædias are from five to ten years old, and are silent regarding hundreds of topics that every reference work should contain. Such, for instance, as "The X-Ray," "Argon," "Horseless Carriages," "The Atlanta Exposition," "Color Photography," etc., etc. It also gives biographies of hundreds of people who have lately become famous, such as Prof. Roentgen, discoverer of the "X-Ray," Ian MacLaren, Dr. Nansen, the explorer, Rudyard Kipling, etc., etc., On account of its lateness in all these matters, as well as its accuracy, it has become the standard in Schools, Colleges, Courts, Public Libraries, and wherever important questions come up for discussion.

It would therefore seem that no professional man, artisan, mechanic, teacher, pupil, or farmer, can well afford to be without this most useful, practical and latest of all encyclopædias, especially as its price has been so arranged as to make the work a great bargain, and render its possession possible to almost any one who earnestly desires to own it. American Encyclopædia in eight large quarto volumes, and which embraces the substance of all the other encyclopædias, besides a very large amount of new up-to-date matter none of them contain. It introduces a vast number of new words, names, facts, ideas, inventions, methods and developments, It treats, in all, over 60,000 topics, which is from 6,000 to 10,000 more than any other work. The publishers of the "Standard American" have also lavishly embellished the new work. There are over 8,500 illustrations, which cover every conceivable subject, lending new interest to the descriptions, and forming a succession of pleasing surprises. It also contains over 800 colored maps, charts, and diagrams, and constitutes a complete atlas of the world such as no other encyclopædia has undertaken to present.
